

- No changes to the system's behaviour
- No need for new communication standards
- No need for additional hardware/software solutions